Welcome Letter from Host Chairs

On behalf of the 2023 AASLH Conference Host Committee, we are excited to welcome you to Boise. Our committee has shaped a creative portfolio of tours and evening events highlighting Boise and this special region of the American West.

The descendants of the original Boise Valley people are from the Shoshone Bannock Tribes in Fort Hall, Idaho; Shoshone-Paiute Tribes, Owyhee, Nevada; Burns Paiute Tribe, Burns, Oregon; Fort McDermitt Paiute-Shoshone, McDermitt, Nevada; and the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, Warm Springs, Oregon, and Boise Valley.

Boise, the City of Trees, is the most rural urban city in the country. Situated at the base of the Rocky Mountain foothills on the Boise River, our city is a beacon for those who love the outdoors, history, and culture. We are home to one of the country’s largest Basque communities, a verdant 25-mile greenbelt, The World Center for Birds of Prey, more buildings heated geothermally—including the State Museum—than any American city, and 1,172 sites listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

There truly is something here for everyone. Tours and sessions throughout the conference will highlight Boise and the region’s historic sites, museums, and historic preservation efforts. We invite you to experience our museums, restaurants, parks, trails, state and national historic sites, and world-renowned destinations that have attracted people to this place of unique beauty and inspirational stories.

Please visit our Host Committee booth in the Main Lobby for suggestions and explore our vibrant city and its amenities.

Enjoy your unforgettable experience in Idaho!

Sincerely,

Janet Gallimore, Idaho State Historical Society

We’re excited this year’s conference is here! Our conference theme I, Too, Am America, inspired by American poet Langston Hughes, prompts us to consider our individual and collective identities. I, Too, Am America, evokes an inclusive definition of America which expands beyond citizenship documentation to everyone who lives, works, and contributes to American society regardless of legal status. It builds on the United States Constitution’s opening phrase “We, the people.” I, Too, Am America, is a bold statement looking at the past, present, and future states of being an American, how we interpret American history, and our evolving audience.

Together the program and host committees have curated an experience for this conference that explores the American identity through historical excursions, creative and innovative programming, and compelling discussions. Our general session presenters offer insight into their own identities, and the application of this work within our own communities and organizations.

At this year’s conference you can expect the unexpected. We are here to learn, network, and engage. But we are also here to celebrate our community of history and culture practitioners. It is our hope that you meet new people and explore new things while reveling in the awesomeness of our work as a community!

Have a great conference!

—I, Too, Am America—

Langston Hughes, “I, Too” from The Weary Blues, 1926
DEAR AASLH ATTENDEES,

As the first elected female mayor of the City of Boise, I’m so pleased to welcome you to Idaho’s capital city. We are proud of our efforts to make Boise a city for everyone, and that includes historians and the groups you represent.

Boise’s rich and varied past is situated in the city’s specific natural environment and stretches well beyond the date of the city’s founding in 1863. For many centuries predating the arrival of Euro-American pioneers, bands of Shoshone, Paiute, and Bannock peoples moved through this landscape annually. They camped near hot springs in the winters, sheltered in the foothills, and fed on the small game that populated the sagebrush hills and the fish that swam in the Boise River. The arrival of homesteaders from the east in the 1800s ushered in a new era, marked by the taming of natural resources in the name of progress. The sagebrush was plowed under, and the river diverted into the desert to cultivate fertile fields and feed a growing population. The discovery of gold in the nearby Boise Basin brought many people to the valley in the 1860s and 1870s, including Chinese immigrants who found work in and around the mines. By the turn of the twentieth century, many other immigrant groups had discovered Boise and settled in its downtown core. For a time, the city was as polyglot and multicultural as New York City, with immigrants from countries as diverse as Mexico, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Sweden, Germany, Japan, and of course, Spain. Immigrants from Spain’s Basque Country remain today one of Boise’s most visible populations, and I hope you make time while you’re in town to visit the restaurants and cultural sites on the city’s Basque Block.

I’d be remiss not to mention the impact that women and African Americans have had on the city of Boise. In 1896, Idaho became the fourth state in the nation to grant women the right to vote, more than twenty years before Congress ratified the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Boise women made the most of this civic right and duty, immediately engaging in the politics and civic life of Boise. By the middle of the twentieth century, women were serving on Boise City Council, spearheading city-wide land use discussions, and leading efforts to preserve open space, foothills, and the Boise River in our rapidly growing city. African Americans have also been part of the city’s historic fabric and the city’s cultural site, the Erma Hayman House, shares the stories of this community as well as its ongoing contributions to our city.

I hope that while you’re in Boise, you will take advantage of the many tours, panels, and speakers that will give you a glimpse of Boise’s unique role in American and Idaho history. You’ll have the chance to see local Boise history up close through experts as well as your own experience. I hope that your time here is provocative, enjoyable, and valuable. Thank you for joining us in our great city! We look forward to your return!

Lauren McLean
Mayor of Boise
1. Name badges must be worn at all times.
2. Only registered attendees will be allowed to attend sessions and workshops.
3. Nonregistered guests are not allowed to attend sessions or workshops, but may purchase tickets to attend tours and other special events. Please check with AASLH registration desk for availability.
4. Your purchased tickets are in your registration packet. Please check them for the appropriate meeting times and locations for special events.
5. Tickets are necessary for all workshops, meals, tours, and evening events. Please show your ticket before boarding buses or entering an evening event. If you’d like to purchase tickets, please visit the AASLH registration desk. Some events may be sold out.
6. Buses will be provided to events held offsite unless noted in program guide. All bus pick up/drop-offs take place at the rear of Boise Centre on Front Street between 8th and 9th Streets.
7. Masks are optional. There is a supply of face masks at the Registration Desk if you need one.

Feeling Lost or Need Assistance?
Throughout the conference, if you feel lost in the convention center, need help navigating to an evening event, or just need a Band-Aid, we have you covered. Look for conference volunteers in the sand-colored shirts with the conference logo. They will have bright-colored flags to help you find your way to the Thursday and Friday evening events. You can also look for AASLH staff at the Registration Desk in the Main Lobby or for the people with “Staff” ribbons on their name badges. The staff will have Band Aids, ink pens, and can answer any program or AASLH-related questions. The Local Host Committee booth, also in the Main Lobby, will have information on local restaurants, museums, stores, so be sure to ask them for recommendations.

Host Committee Booth
Do you have questions about Boise’s famous potato candy? Do you want a local recommendation for lunch or dinner? Stop by the Boise Host Committee booth located in the conference center Main Lobby with your questions, to pick up a map, and to learn about our host city.

AASLH REGISTRATION DESK HOURS
The AASLH Annual Conference registration desk is located in the Main Lobby of the Boise Centre and will be staffed during the following times to answer any questions you may have during the meeting.

AASLH 2023 CONFERENCE APP
Download the #AASLH2023 conference to keep up with what is going on during the conference. Instructions for downloading the Mobile Event App for the 2023 AASLH Annual Conference are below.

1. Visit https://pheedloop.com/AASLH2023
2. Select either iOS or Android Download
3. You will be prompted to download the “Pheedloop Go!” app
4. After downloading and opening the app, select “Forgot Password” and input the email connected to your conference registration (if you aren’t sure which email is connected to your conference registration, reach out to info@aaslh.org)
5. You will receive a temporary password to the email provided.
6. Use the temporary password to login to the app.
7. You’re all set!

With the mobile event app you will be able to:
- Explore the conference schedule
- Create your own personalized schedule
- Interact with other attendees
- Learn more about speakers, exhibitors, and sponsors
- Keep up to date with the latest schedule changes
- And more!
Running Groups
Do you like to start your day off with a run? Meet volunteers from our host city at the Boise Centre Plaza at 6:30 am on Thursday and Friday to enjoy a pre-selected trail that shows off Boise.

Filmapalooza!
On Thursday from 2–4 pm, there will be a screening room designated in the Boise Centre where films that have won an AASLH Leadership in History Award will be shown. Schedule on page 35.

Friday Is T-Shirt Day!
Did you pack your favorite history or museum-themed T-shirt? Friday will be T-shirt day at the conference. Wear your favorite history or museum-themed T-shirt. If an AASLH staff member sees you and is impressed with your shirt, you may be surprised with a prize.

Learning Circles
If you signed up to participate in the new Learning Circles, you will meet throughout the conference. Your circle leader emailed you during the last week of August to introduce themselves and designate times and places for your meet ups. If you have any questions, please stop at the registration counter for assistance.

Pop Up Exhibits
Even with the many great tours planned during the conference, it was impossible to include museums and stores in the Boise region. Some of the museums have brought pop-up exhibits which will be located in the Southwest and Northwest lobbies of Boise Centre. Be sure to take time to check them out and learn more about Idaho history.

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle
Please help keep our meeting environmentally-friendly by placing items in the correct recycling containers placed throughout the convention center.

Share on Social Media!
Tag AASLH and use #AASLH2023 to give your co-workers FOMO.

Time for Networking and Exploring Boise
With our new schedule, there is even more time to network with your colleagues, meet people new to AASLH, and see our host city. Events include:

- Breaks in the Exhibit Hall
  Don’t miss out on the breaks in the Exhibit Hall. Snacks included!

- Meet and Eat
  Sign up in advance to join colleagues for lunch at a nearby restaurant (food, drink, and transportation not included).

- Receptions
  If you are new to AASLH, sign up for the First-time Attendee Reception. For an early evening gathering, register for the Diversity and Inclusion Mixer and the History Leadership Institute Reception. These are free for all attendees, but preregistration is encouraged.

- Evening Events
  Boise offers you a great chance to get out, see some museums, and have fun with colleagues. The Evening Events are one of the best ways to meet new people and learn more about AASLH’s host institutions. Even better, the Thursday and Friday night events are a short walk from the convention center and your hotel.

- Conference After-Hours Gatherings
  The Bar at The Grove is designated as the “official watering hole” for the 2023 AASLH Conference.

HISTORY HAPPY HOURS!
Between sessions and the evening event, join some of AASLH’s Affinity Communities at a nearby bar to meet new colleagues and network. Some of our Affinity Communities will be hosting informal meet-ups where you can come together and meet people with similar professional interests. Food and drinks are not provided, but good conversation and connections are free. See the Registration Desk or the Conference App for a map and directions.
Since the Program Committee is continuing to experiment with the programming for the AASLH Conference, the format of each session is listed below. This will help you decide what type of session you prefer to attend during the conference. The session formats are:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Session Format</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Charette</td>
<td>A charette is a collaborative session in which a group comes together to draft a solution to a particular problem or expand on an idea. This session is designed as a working session that creates an output. The organizer decides the topic, but the participants supply most of the discussion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conversation Provocation</td>
<td>Audience members engage in discussion/debate. One facilitator poses a predetermined question and encourages attendees to participate. The facilitator manages the discussion as a guide on the side, not a sage on the stage.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Experiential</td>
<td>Do a program—don’t just hear about it. Be immersed in a playful (or dark) experience. Attendees will spend time doing something, not just talking.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Idea Studio</td>
<td>Informed and inspired by a prompt or topic area, attendees will work together interactively to develop new ideas and creative solutions for their sites, in their communities, or in the field at large.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lightning Round</td>
<td>A moderator selects a particular theme and recruits speakers who can teach something specific to the audience in ten minutes or less.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nuts and Bolts</td>
<td>This session type focuses on a particular skill that is needed in the history profession. It should be specific enough that attendees leave with a practical skill, but flexible enough that any size museum can adapt it for their needs. It is not designed to be a “show and tell”, but a “show and how to.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roundtable</td>
<td>One chair and up to three panelists examine complex historical or professional issues in discussion before an audience. Ample time will be allowed for audience discussion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Workshops</td>
<td>These long-form, in-depth sessions are designed to teach special skills in a small group setting and may occur on or off-site. Participants in workshop sessions pay fees which contribute to the conference budget. Transportation will be provided for off-site workshops.</td>
</tr>

The Foundation for Idaho History is the fundraising engine that powers the Idaho State Historical Society, ensuring that Idaho’s stories are uncovered, illuminated, and passed along to future generations.

The Foundation bridges the gap between the funding allocated by the state legislature and the resources required to create a variety of programs, exhibits, and events. We rely on community support via donations, membership, paid admissions, fundraising events, and more to generate roughly half of our Historical Society’s annual budget for initiatives that touch every corner of our state. It would not be possible to safeguard the stories and artifacts of our past without time, energy, expertise, and resources from the Foundation’s generous statewide members and donors.

I, Too, Am America: An Exploration of Identity in Cultural Historical Work

I dentity is a foundational concept influencing not only the culture worker, but also the work. Join a roster of cultural and historical workers in this TED Talk-style session as they explore I, Too, Am America in their personal and professional worlds. This year’s opening plenary is a nontraditional session celebrating AASLH’s membership and exploring Boise’s cultural history at the historic Egyptian Theatre. Sponsored by Idaho Humanities Council.

Nolan Brown, a Shoshone-Bannock tribal citizen and Anishinaabe descendant, is the Original Territories and Historical Research Manager for the Shoshone-Bannock Tribes. Mr. Brown grew up on the Fort Hall Indian Reservation, Idaho, and also among the Bois Forte Band of Minnesota Chippewa, his father’s tribe. Mr. Brown is dedicated to the sharing and understanding of the Shoshone and Bannock languages, culture, history, and contemporary issues affecting the Shoshone-Bannock Tribes. Mr. Brown has been with the Tribes’ Language and Culture Preservation Department’s Office of Original Territories and Historic Research since 2017, initially as a researcher. He assists in tribal historical and general research projects, documenting cultural and historic sites within the Tribes’ original lands and coordinating educational and interpretive endeavors for the tribal membership and general public including research for national, state, and local organizations. Within the Language and Cultural Preservation Department, he has contributed research and support to the Shoshone-Bannock Tribal Museum, Language Instruction, Cultural Resources, and the Tribal Practices for Wellness in Indian Country grant project.

Cherie Buckner-Webb, a fifth generation Idahoan, was the first African American elected to the Idaho State Legislature where she served for twenty years. Buckner-Webb is the founder and principal of Sojourner Coaching, a consultancy focused on organizational development and executive coaching. Her extensive international business background in the corporate arena includes positions in program management, aviation, diversity and inclusion, human resources, sales and marketing, business and organizational development, and operations. Additionally, she is a talented vocalist who shares the gift of song internationally. Cherie’s credo, “leave a legacy,” underscores her work in every area of activity and to that end she donates countless hours to a variety of community organizations, including as a founding member of the Idaho Black History Museum.

Ben Garcia has worked for twenty years to help museums become places of welcome and belonging for all people. He started as a gallery guide and educator, moved on to exhibition development, and then served in middle- and upper-management administrative roles, before joining the American LGBTQ+ Museum as Executive Director. He has presented and published regularly on creating structural equity in museums through transparency, accountability, fair labor practices, and by adding missing voices and perspectives.

Kurt Ikeda is a National Park Service ranger by profession and poet by passion. He preserves the legacy of the World War II incarceration of Japanese Americans as the Director of Interpretation and Education for Minidoka National Historic Site in Jerome, Idaho. As a second-generation Japanese American, his work is rooted in his grandfather’s World War II incarceration, illuminated by his experience at the Japanese American Museum of Oregon, and inspired by his service as a high school English teacher in Los Angeles.

Robby Luckett received his BA in political science from Yale University and his PhD in history from the University of Georgia. A native Mississippian, he returned home, where he is a tenured professor of history and Director of the Margaret Walker Center and COFO Center at Jackson State University. His books include a collection of essays, Redefining Liberal Arts Education in the Twenty-First Century (2021), and a monograph, Joe T. Patterson and the White South’s Dilemma: Evolving Resistance to Black Advancement (2015).

Erin Carlson Mast has twenty years of experience leading cultural nonprofits. In 2021, she became the President and CEO of the Lincoln Presidential Foundation, where she led the rebranding, relaunch, and establishment of a new partnership with the National Park Service. For a decade prior she served as CEO of President Lincoln’s Cottage in Washington, D.C., after having served as an original member of the capital project team. As CEO, she transitioned the site to an independent 501(c)3 and led the site to steady growth and recognition including a Presidential Medal, “50 Great Places to Work,” and a Time magazine must-see destination.
Join founding director Jorge Zamanillo in a thought-provoking conversation with 2023 Program Co-Chair Christopher Miller about the Smithsonian’s National Museum of the American Latino. Established by Congress in December 2020, the National Museum of the American Latino illuminates the story of the United States by featuring Latino contributions to the country’s art, history, and culture. The museum is building upon the work of the Smithsonian Latino Center through the creation of digital resources, exhibitions, and programming reflecting the Latino experience on a national scale.

Jorge Zamanillo is the founding director of the Smithsonian’s National Museum of the American Latino. In legislation establishing the museum within the Smithsonian, Congress stated the purpose of the museum is “to illuminate the story of the United States for the benefit of all by featuring Latino contributions to the art, history, and culture of the nation since its early history.” While the Smithsonian evaluates possible locations for the new museum, Zamanillo is providing leadership and strategic direction for the museum. In addition, he is guiding the museum’s comprehensive plan to preserve, document, display, interpret, and promote knowledge of U.S. Latino history, art, and culture. Zamanillo and museum staff are also integrating and building on programs previously managed by the Smithsonian Latino Center and working on new museum collaborations, digital resources, exhibitions, and fundraising. In June 2022, the museum opened the Molina Family Latino Gallery, its first gallery dedicated to Latino history and culture, at the National Museum of American History.

Thursday’s General Session will be held at the Egyptian Theatre, one of Boise’s most cherished historical landmarks. The venue offers a warm, lush, and lovingly restored environment, with amazing attention to Egyptian architectural detailing. The acoustics in the room create a fantastic concert-goer experience. The Egyptian has housed numerous top-level national touring acts and theatre productions.

The proscenium, with much gilded detailing, is the main feature of the auditorium. A large, winged scarab, detailed in the drawings, holds a sun disk with ureaus, and is above the cornice torus within a painted geometric star motif panel. Completing the gilded scarab ornament, symbolizing the birth of the sun and centered above the stage, are flanking horizontal reed bundles set with three swan-like figures on stylized water. Below, the outer proscenium arch is formed by three corbels which at each side are supported by engaged columns.

AASLH thanks them for their support of the 2023 Conference.
Boise Centre West and Boise Centre East are interconnected with a concourse to provide seamless access for guests.

The Keynote on Thursday will be held at The Egyptian Theatre on the corner of Main and Capitol Streets.

Transportation for Tours and Wednesday Evening Event will load on West Front Street.
The Exhibit Hall is the place to be during #AASLH2023! Don’t miss your chance to meet with vendors and suppliers, network with colleagues, and check out the latest technology and services being offered. There will be refreshments available during scheduled breaks, but that is not the only time when something is happening. In addition to the scheduled activities in the Exhibit Hall, there are ongoing activities in case you need to take a break from sessions. Pick a table and work a puzzle, do some coloring, build a pipe cleaner sculpture, or choose a conversation starter and make a new friend.

The National Underground Railroad Network to Freedom is a program of the National Park Service created by Congress in 1998. The Network to Freedom is dedicated to commemorating, preserving, and interpreting the history of resistance to slavery through escape and flight. NTF accomplishes its mission through administering a membership network of sites, facilities, and programs associated with the history of freedom seeking in the U.S., offering technical assistance to members, administering a grant program for members, and creating collaborative opportunities across the network to share ideas and resources for their mutual benefit. Since 1998, 740 members have been designated as part of the Network to Freedom, with fewer than 30 members in the American West. NTF staff are eager to collaborate with potential public history partners and scholars to correct this shortcoming by supporting new scholarship, network designations, and programs that amplify stories of freedom seeking from the Rockies to the Pacific.

Native Spaces: Exploring the Places and People of the Shoshone-Paiute Tribes

Cost: $120, Preregistration Required

Join regional experts and members of the Shoshone-Paiute Tribes for a day which celebrates the places and people of one of Idaho’s five federally recognized tribes. While they once freely occupied the land of their forefathers and foremothers in the tri-state area of what are now Idaho, Nevada, and Oregon, descendants of the Western Shoshone and the Northern Paiute now occupy the Duck Valley Indian Reservation of Idaho and Nevada. This tour will visit sites of significance to the Shoshone-Paiute people throughout the region which surrounds Boise. Tribal cultural staff will select the itinerary, but tour stops may include Eagle Rock Park in Boise where Native people have gathered at a rock outcropping which extends to touch the sky above geothermal springs. Participants may also visit Celebration Park which was established as Idaho’s only archaeological park in 1989. Situated in a dramatic canyon alongside the Snake River, a walk through the huge basalt melon gravels deposited by the Bonneville flood reveals petroglyphs 100 to 10,000 years old. Tour cost includes lunch.

Removal and Remembrance: Japanese American Incarceration in the Idaho Desert

Cost: $95, Preregistration Required

(Note: This tour is also offered on Saturday, September 9)

On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced removal and mass incarceration of over 120,000 Japanese Americans during World War II. At Minidoka and “relocation centers” across the nation, American citizens confronted confinement before later learning to heal. At the Minidoka National Historic Site, tour participants can take a 0.5-mile walk over gravel trails around the site. Visitors will make a loop to three historic structures: the root cellar, a barrack, and mess hall. The group will engage in learning and reflection surrounding the experience of the over 13,000 Japanese Americans who were incarcerated at Minidoka during WWII. Self-guided tours of the recently opened Minidoka Visitor Center and reconstructed guard tower will allow participants to dig deeper into the story. Topics include Japanese immigration to the United States, the forced removal and incarceration of Japanese Americans, life in camp, and healing after the war. Tour participants will also visit El Milagro, an agricultural labor camp developed by the Farm Security Administration during the New Deal. The site later housed Japanese American incarcerees from Minidoka before a post-war transition to residential occupancy by migratory laborers from Latin America. Tour cost includes lunch.

8 am – 12 pm

From Falk to Frank:

The Journey of Boise’s Jewish Community

Cost: $30, Preregistration Required

The story of Boise’s Jewish community is nuanced. Less than ten years after Idaho became the first state to elect a Jewish governor, three hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan marched through downtown Boise. An unlikely combination of economic success, antisemitism, and political power has shaped the history of Jews in Boise. Led by members of the Jewish community, tour participants will begin their exploration of this layered history at the synagogue of Congregation Ahavath Beth Israel. Constructed in 1896, this Moorish Revival building is amongst the oldest synagogues in continuous use west of the Mississippi River. Following a visit to the home of Boise Mayor and Idaho Governor Moses Alexander, the tour will conclude at the Idaho Anne Frank Human Rights Memorial. Opened to the public in 2002, the memorial is the only Anne Frank memorial in the United States, one of the few places in the world where the full Universal Declaration for Human Rights is on public display, and is recognized as an International Site of Conscience.

Idaho City: Boise’s Origins in the Boise Basin Mining Boom

Cost: $70, Preregistration Required

It is not well known—except perhaps to Boiseans—that Idaho’s capital city emerged as a tiny supply depot furnishing much larger settlements in the Boise Basin, a low-lying area of some 200 square miles surrounded by rugged mountains and located roughly 25 miles northeast of Boise. Several mining towns sprang up here—virtually overnight—after gold was discovered here in the 1860s, by far the largest and most enduring of which was Idaho City (originally known as Bannock). Though home to less than 500 people today, at its height in the mid-1860s the settlement sustained a population of between 6,000 and 7,000 people, making it for a brief time the largest city in the Pacific Northwest, eclipsing even major cities of the time such as Portland, Oregon. Participants will learn about the mining booms that led to Idaho City’s—and by extension, Boise’s—rapid development by participating in a guided tour of Idaho City’s historic district, which still resembles a 19th-century frontier town and recalls life in a mountain mining camp. Surrounded by the scenic Boise Mountains, the town boasts several historic buildings such as the Boise Basin Mercantile (est. 1865) and the Boise Basin Museum. The group will also have occasion to reflect upon the rigors and harsh realities of frontier life (and death) in a remote mining camp by visiting Idaho City’s Pioneer Cemetery.

1–5:30 pm
The Desert Blooms: Irrigation and Reclamation win the Boise Valley
Cost: $70, Preregistration Required

This tour traces the Boise Valley’s transformation from Indigenous homeland and fur trade rendezvous point to Idaho’s capital city through the lens of water—both its culturally specific uses and the work it was put to in constructing the Boise we know today. Today, Boise sustains a population of 288,000 people. The larger Boise-Nampa, Idaho Metropolitan Statistical Area (also known as the Treasure Valley and including the state’s three most populous cities and 40% of its population) included nearly 800,000 people as of 2020. That population density would not be possible without large-scale irrigation and reclamation infrastructure. The tour will progress from north to south, mirroring the water’s flow out of the Boise River canyon and into the Boise Valley and visiting Arrowrock Dam, Lucky Peak Dam, and Diversion Dam. Other stops include the Foote Interpretive Center, a site commemorating the Boise River canyon residence of Mary Hallock Foote, the famed illustrator, and Arthur D. Foote, the Cornell-educated engineer who masterminded the New York Canal.

Historia Hispana: Idaho’s Latino Legacy
Cost: $50, Preregistration Required

Latino Idahoans comprise the state’s largest ethnic and cultural minority, but they are underrepresented in its documented and designated history. Despite their contributions to the development of the state and their critical role in its culture and economy, the history of Hispanic Idahoans is only just beginning to be acknowledged by the wider population. Join members of the Latino community on a tour that begins at the Hispanic Cultural Center of Idaho. Following its incorporation in 1997, it functioned as a center without walls until opening the doors of its current facility in 2003 from which it fulfills a mission to “recognize, celebrate, and preserve Latino arts, heritage, culture and values.” Participants will learn about the origins of the center and efforts to preserve community history. The tour will then take registrants to the historic Caldwell Labor Camp. Opened in 1939, site administrators are working to restore one of the original barracks for interpretation. Before returning to Boise, the tour will also visit Chula Vista, a mid-century farm worker housing complex of brick ranchettes and meandering suburban style streets in Wilder, the first Idaho town to elect an all-Latino city council.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7

7:30–9 am
Walking Tour: History, Art, and Absence: A Walking Tour Through Boise That Is and Was
Cost: $25, Preregistration Required

Join the City of Boise’s Arts & History Department on a tour of the city’s lesser-known past and present. Participants will tour several of Boise’s most noteworthy public art installations, learn about the public art process and how it benefits both residents and the local economy, and explore local history through the lenses of art and absence. This 1.5-hour, one-mile walking tour will outline non-dominant historical narratives, highlight vestiges of Boise’s bygone buildings and landmarks (such as Boise’s first Chinatown, which was razed in the early 20th century), and feature public art that speaks to Boise’s unique history and culture. Explore the ways the city represents history, builds community, and expresses identity through its public art collection.

12:30–2 pm
Walking Tour: WalkABasque: An Architectural Introduction to Boise’s Best-Known Immigrants
Cost: $25, Preregistration Required

Join Preservation Idaho’s experienced docents for a guided tour showcasing the history and architecture of Boise’s Basque community across 150 years. Let us introduce you to the immigrant culture which still shapes Boise’s people and places. From San Ignazio to Francisco Franco and shipbuilding to salt, the global history of the Basque people has played an outsized role. Discover why Boise is the epicenter of Basque American culture.

1–3:30 pm
Made in Idaho: James Castle and His Legacy
Cost: $30, Preregistration Required

A deaf man and self-taught artist, James Castle produced a massive body of artworks during his lifetime, the majority of which were made while he lived in the house, shed, and trailer at 5015 Eugene Street in Boise. His historic home and studio, paired with his artwork, provide an unparalleled glimpse into 20th-century vernacular American life, culture, and art. Participants will explore how the house collaborates with a variety of artists and partners, including the Deaf and Hard of Hearing community, to improve accessibility and opportunities to engage with Castle’s creative legacy.

3 – 4:30 pm

Art Deco Walking Tour
Cost: $25, Preregistration Required
Join the Idaho State Historic Preservation Office for a tour of Art Deco landmarks in downtown Boise. Designed to accompany the Idaho State Museum’s special exhibit, The Art of Deco, this hour-and-a-half walking tour will feature both well-known and obscure examples of Boise’s early modern architecture. Learn to identify Art Deco buildings in Boise and understand how the style was uniquely manifested in Idaho. Discover the history of these fascinating places and ongoing efforts to protect them.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8

8:30 – 10 am

Walking Tour: WalkAbout Boise: An Architectural History of the City of Trees
Cost: $25, Preregistration Required
Join Preservation Idaho’s experienced docents for a guided tour through 150 years of history and architecture. They will introduce you to the built environment that makes downtown Boise like no other place. From Basque sheepherders to political power players and local sandstone to Egyptian hieroglyphs, this tour makes Boise history come alive.

9 am – 12 pm

Crafting a Capital: The Art and Architecture of Boise’s Public Buildings
Cost: $25, Preregistration Required
What do the places that house government say about a state’s past, present, and future? Join us on a walking tour of Idaho’s capital city to explore the narrative of Gem State government buildings and public art. From Boise’s Assay Office to the statehouse’s newest monument, attendees will encounter the architecture, art, and history at the heart of Idaho’s capital. Tour the Capitol of Light, explore the State Supreme Courthouse, and walk past the public murals in the tunnels below. Discover the stories of how they came to be and the messages these spaces convey today.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9

7:30 am – 5 pm

Mountain Majesty: Recreation and the Rediscovery of Idaho
Cost: $125, Preregistration Required
Idaho’s reputation as a recreation destination is undisputed, but the Gem State was once better known for mining than moguls. Join this tour for an exploration of Idaho’s tourism history and the places which make this state an international attraction. Tour participants will visit Sun Valley, the first purpose-built ski resort in the United States. Developed by W. Averell Harriman in 1936 to increase ridership on the Union Pacific Railroad, Sun Valley quickly gained a global reputation which spurred tourism development across the region. Redfish Lake and the stunning Sawtooth Mountains will impress you with both their natural beauty and the role they played in the creation of a National Recreation Area in the Idaho back-country. While experiencing Idaho’s breathtaking landscape, registrants will visit local museums, including the Stanley Museum located in a historic ranger station once operated by the United States Forest Service. Don’t miss this opportunity to experience Idaho and the historic places which make it a mountain mecca. Tour cost includes lunch.

8 am – 5 pm

Removal and Remembrance: Japanese American Incarceration in the Idaho Desert
Cost: $95, Preregistration Required
This tour is also offered on Wednesday. Description on page 22.

8 am – 1 pm

A More Complete Story: Exploring the City of Boise’s African American History
Cost: $30, Preregistration Required
Idahoan efforts to achieve racial equality have always been tied to place. In this tour, participants will tour the River Street Neighborhood and two cultural sites, the Idaho Black History Museum and the Erma Hayman House, to learn about the City of Boise’s approach to saving, interpreting, programming, and promoting historic properties unique to Boise’s Black history. Led by members of Boise’s Black community, participants will first experience the Idaho Black History Museum. Housed in the historic St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church, this museum serves as a foundational pillar to the State of Idaho and the community it serves and tells the story of African Americans in the Gem State. A walking tour of Boise’s historic River Street Neighborhood will conclude at the Erma Hayman House. For much of the twentieth century, this neighborhood was the most ethnically and culturally diverse area in Boise. A working-class section of the city, the neighborhood housed immigrants from all over the world as well as the majority of Boise’s Black residents, including Erma Andre Madry Hayman. Mrs. Hayman lived her everyday life in exceptional ways, and her home at 617 Ash Street amplifies not only her story, but the stories of historically underrepresented communities, past and present, through inclusive, culturally mindful public programs.

10 am and 1:30 pm
Art in the Park Meet Up
Cost: Free, No Preregistration Required
Boise Art Museum’s Art in the Park is widely recognized as one of the premiere cultural events in the Northwest and luckily, it takes place during the conference. This open-air festival, held on the weekend following Labor Day each September, provides visitors of all ages and interests with the opportunity to meet more than 200 artists and purchase their works. During the three-day event, Boise Art Museum presents a variety of contemporary arts and crafts along with wonderful food, live music and entertainment, and hands-on activities for children. If you would like to go to the festival, but don’t want to go alone, meet other attendees in the Boise Centre lobby to explore it together. Spend as much or as little time as you want.

1–5 pm
Frontier Forts and Fighter Pilots: Military History in the Treasure Valley
Cost: $75, Preregistration Required
Begin your tour at Fort Boise, founded by the U.S. Army to safeguard the region’s mineral wealth, and visit the recently renovated Surgeon’s Quarters, one of Idaho’s oldest buildings. Then visit the J. Curtis Earl Memorial Exhibit, one of the nation’s largest collections of historic arms and military memorabilia housed at the Old Idaho Penitentiary. The wide-ranging collection and dramatic settings illustrate the development of weapons throughout history. End your experience at the Idaho Military History Museum. Located at Gowen Field and operated cooperatively with the Idaho National Guard, this museum preserves, displays, and interprets military history and artifacts that have a geographical tie to the history of the people and state of Idaho.

EVENING EVENTS

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6

A Storied Soiree at the Old Idaho Penitentiary
6 – 9 pm
Cost: Free, Preregistration Required

The Old Idaho Penitentiary, one of Idaho’s most unique historic sites and most popular tourist destinations, will serve as the location for this evening event, offering conference attendees the opportunity to explore 101 years of Idaho and prison history (and beyond). One of only four territorial prisons open to the public in the United States, the penitentiary housed over 13,000 men and women between 1872 and 1973, becoming a museum in 1974. Guided tours and history presentations will be offered throughout the evening by the site’s staff and volunteer docents. All exhibits will be open for the evening, and guided tours will include glimpses into areas typically closed to the public. A buffet-style meal will be provided in the historic Shirt Factory building (now a multi-purpose event space), along with a cash bar (each attendee receives one drink ticket), and a DJ providing music. The Idaho Prison Arts Collective will contribute to the experience through unique presentations of stories from men and women who have lived and worked in Idaho’s correctional institutions. The Souvenir Confinement store will offer 20% off all purchases. In addition, a preview of the site’s upcoming interpretive reimagining will be offered exclusively to event attendees. The cost of this event is included in the conference registration fee. Transportation will be provided.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7

A Night at the Idaho State Museum
6 – 9 pm
Cost: $20, Preregistration Required

Idaho is the ancestral homeland of five distinct Indigenous groups: the Kootenai, the Coeur d’Alene, and the Nez Perce in the North, and the Shoshone-Paiute and the Shoshone-Bannock in the South. This evening event offers attendees an opportunity to learn from Indigenous storytellers, celebrate Native culture through a variety of performances, and engage with Native voices from all around Idaho. Performances will be given by the Rose Creek Singers and Drummers of the Coeur d’Alene Tribe and Nez Perce Dancers, as well as presentations by members of luk’upsíimey “North Star” Collective, a group of Nimiipuu (Nez Perce) writers and artists. Reimagined and opened in 2018, the museum is the newest state museum in the country. The museum will be open for attendees to explore its permanent and traveling exhibits at their leisure, including the museum’s most recent traveling exhibit, Roots of Wisdom. Sustainable food will be provided by Open Table, and attendees will receive one free drink ticket. All subsequent drinks will be provided by a no-host, cash bar. Attendees will receive a discount at the museum’s gift shop, the M Store. This venue is within a 0.5-mile walk from the Boise Centre. Attendees are encouraged to walk, but please note on the registration form if you require transportation.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8

Basque-ing on the Block 6 – 9 pm
Cost: $35, Preregistration Required

This evening event will give attendees a chance to learn about Basque history and culture at the Basque Museum & Cultural Center, located on Boise’s Basque Block. Boise is home to the largest concentration of Basques in the United States and the Basque Block is their social hub. The museum, Cyrus Jacobs–Uberuaga House (a historic house museum showcasing both early Boise history and the importance of Basque boardinghouses), and Anduiza Fronton (Basque handball court) will be open for attendees to visit and learn more about this vibrant community. Food and drink (cash bar, one drink ticket provided) will be catered by the Basque Market outdoors on the Block itself. The Oinkari Basque Dancers will provide lively entertainment to celebrate the last night of the 2023 conference. This venue is within a 0.2-mile walk from the Boise Centre. Attendees are encouraged to walk, but please note on the registration form if you require transportation.

Unless noted, these events are not included in the Annual Conference registration fee and require preregistration.

Building Relevancy and Sharing Authority with New Audiences

Cost: $45, Preregistration Required

Room: 100E

How can museums and historic sites broaden longstanding interpretive themes and empower diverse audiences to find cultural relevance? Practice a shared-authority approach to audience engagement with the experiential "Dominican Faceless Dolls" project and traveling exhibit. Participants will leave with a program model adaptable to any institution exploring American identity. Registration fee includes soft drink or water and a snack.

Chair: Nora Halloran, National Park Service, Salem Maritime National Historic Site, Salem, MA; Yinette Guzman, Punto Urban Art Museum at North Shore Community Development Coalition, Inc., Salem, MA; Fernando Pacheco, National Park Service, Salem Maritime National Historic Site, Salem, MA

Building Walking Tours, Heritage Trails, and Virtual Museum Tours

Cost: $45, Preregistration Required

Room: 110B

This session will walk participants through the process of creating digital walking tours, virtual museum tours, interpretive trails, and other experiences using Clio, Omeka, and other resources that are available to history organizations at no cost thanks to the National Endowment for the Humanities and other supporters. Registration fee includes soft drink or water and a snack.

Chair: David Trowbridge, University of Missouri-Kansas City, Leawood, KS

Caring for Military Collections at Non-Military Museums

Cost: $45, Preregistration Required

Location: Idaho State Museum

Have you wondered how to display and interpret a military uniform? Questioned what the various awards, decorations, and patches represent? Debated exhibiting a weapon or captured enemy artifact and how best to interpret it? This session will review best practices in caring for, storing, displaying, and interpreting military-related material culture. Held at Idaho State Museum, a 0.3-mile walk from Boise Center. Registration fee includes soft drink or water and a snack. Transportation is not provided.

Chair: Kyle Mathers, Wisconsin Veterans Museum, West Allis, WI; Marc K. Blackburn, PhD, Lava Beds & Tule Lake National Monuments, National Park Service, Tulelake, CA; Jack Leighow, United States Army Heritage and Education Center, Carlisle, PA; Jennifer Van Haarten, Wisconsin Veterans Museum, Madison, WI; Jessica Waskacz, First Division Museum at Cantigny Park, Wheaton, IL

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

Becoming Citizens: Museum Programming for New Americans
Conversaion/Provocation, Room: 410C
While immigration remains a contentious political issue, approximately 14% of the U.S. population is foreign born, and state and local history institutions are uniquely equipped to provide services for this large, diverse community.
Join this facilitated conversation to discuss strategies and methods related to programming for new Americans.
Chair: Sam Florer, Virginia Museum of History and Culture, Richmond, VA; Eliza Canty-Jones, Oregon Historical Society, Portland, OR

FSA Tips: NAGPRA and Beyond
Nuts and Bolts, Room: 410B
This session will cover the origins and intent of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), how collecting organizations can ensure compliance with the law, proposed changes to the law, and suggestions for how to go beyond NAGPRA when collecting, interpreting and displaying culturally sensitive material.
Chair: Alison Campbell, Washington State Historical Society, Tacoma, WA; Terry C. Abrams, The Niagara History Center, Lockport, NY; David Brownell, North Olympic History Center, Port Angeles, WA; Emily Johnson, Utah Division of Arts and Museums, Salt Lake City, UT

Half the Story: LGBTQ+ People in the Pacific Northwest
Lightning Round, Room: 110C
What does the preservation of local LGBTQ+ history look like? Panelists will discuss their professional experience working to document, preserve, and promote local LGBTQ+ history in Idaho and Washington. Hear from a range of experiences, from a graduate student, college professors, a registrar, and a retired archivist.
Chair: Brian Stack, Spokane Falls Community College, Spokane, WA; Chelsee Boehm, Grace Hudson Museum and Sun House, Ukiah, CA; Chelsie Boehm, Grace Hudson Museum and Sun House, Ukiah, CA; Lisa McClain, PhD, Boise State University, Boise, ID; Alan Virta, Boise State University, Boise, ID

The Health of Volunteer Programs
Idea Studio, Room 420A
Post-COVID, history organizations are in uncharted territory when it comes to volunteer programs. Traditional retired volunteers are aging out and fewer younger people are available to take their place in traditional docent roles. During this session, the audience will work with the presenters to identify the most pressing issues when it comes to volunteer programs and brainstorm solutions.
Chair: Alexandra Rasic, The Gamble House, Pasadena, CA; Jennifer Landry, City of Irving Museums, Irving, TX; Irene Rodriguez, Cabot’s Pueblo Museum, Desert Hot Springs, CA

Tips for Affordable and Accessible Collections Care
Nuts and Bolts, Room: 410A
Keepers of underrepresented cultural heritage often have limited access to preservation supplies and expertise. Moreover, standard guidelines considered “best practices” may not be best for collections outside “mainstream” institutions. This presentation will provide practical preservation advice that is within reach, including alternatives institutions can undertake with limited expenditure and guidance.
Chair: Tara Puyat, Northeast Document Conservation Center, Andover, MA

You’ve Got Mail: Connecting Visitors to Impacted Communities
Roundtable, Room: 400B
Explore new ways to connect museum visitors with people directly impacted by the history of their site through postcards and other low-tech, low-cost programs. What are the ethical responsibilities in forging this correspondence? Session includes a hands-on postcard-writing activity to incarcerated individuals, military veterans, and globally displaced children.
Chair: Damon McCool, Eastern State Penitentiary Historic Site, Philadelphia, PA; Mason Farr, National Veterans Memorial and Museum, Columbus, OH; Meera Muñoz Pandya, National Postal Museum, Washington DC

8:30–10:30 am

No More Excuses: How to Bring the Deaf Community into Your Museum
Charette, Room: 400C
The Deaf community is America too. Are you including them? No more excuses. Come learn how perceived challenges of working with the Deaf community can create exciting opportunities that benefit everyone. Participants will learn from museum professionals and leaders in the Deaf community about ways to improve accessibility in museums.
Chair: Tammi Edwards, Tennessee State Museum, Nashville, TN; Marian Carpenter, Conner Prairie Living History Museum, Fishers, IN; Mike Helms, Bridges for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing, Nashville, TN; Kelly Krogmeier, Conner Prairie Living History Museum, Fishers, IN

OPENING GENERAL SESSION
AT THE EGYPTIAN THEATRE
I, Too, Am America:
An Exploration of Identity in Cultural Historical Work
Join a roster of cultural and historical workers in this TED Talk-style session as they explore I, Too, Am America in their personal and professional worlds. The theatre is a 0.2-mile walk from the Boise Centre. Transportation will not be provided except in the case of accessibility issues. Sponsored by Idaho Humanities Council. See description on page 10.

12:30 – 1:45 pm
AFFINITY LUNCHEONS

Historic House Museum Luncheon
Cost: $48, Preregistration Required
Room: 420A
Join others with an interest in historic house museums for lunch and networking followed by an “Ask the Historic House Doctor” session. Bring your questions and be ready to ask them. If the “doctor” doesn’t know the answer, they can crowdsource a solution!

Small Museums Luncheon
Room: 400A
Cost: $48, Preregistration Required
Join other small organization staff and volunteers for the annual Small Museums luncheon! Always a fun and informative event, this gathering is a chance to meet other people from small institutions, network, and share ideas through group discussions. We will hear a short presentation and, as always, there will be prizes. Everyone is welcome!

Meet and Eat Luncheons
Cost: Free (food, drink, and transportation not included); Preregistration Required

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

30 Ideas for Your People and Places
Lightning Round, Room: 410A
This rapid-fire session will highlight thirty examples of recent successes from across the field of historic properties, sites, and houses, in support of workplace culture, DEAI, and wellness programs for your staff. From the practical to the radical, there will be something for everyone, no matter the size and type of your institution. In a short time, we will help you find new and engaging ideas that you can adapt and bring back to your own institutions.
Chair: Julie Bly DeVere, Museum Studies Program, San Francisco State University, Mountain View, CA; Rebekah Beaulieu, Taft Museum of Art, Cincinnati, OH; Ann Loshaw, Applewood Estate/Ruth Mott Foundation, Flint, MI; Kevin Wisney, Filoli Historic House & Garden, Woodside, CA

Amplifying Indigenous Voices
Nuts and Bolts, Room: 410B
The Northwestern Band of the Shoshone Nation actively partners with local historical organizations to amplify their perspective, which differs from community memory and longstanding narratives as they work toward building their own interpretive center. Join us to learn how your historical organization can effectively collaborate with underrepresented groups.
Chair: Jami J. Van Huss, Hyrum City Museum, Hyrum, UT; Darren Parry, Tribal Tradition Bearer, Paradise, UT; Megan van Frank, Utah Humanities, Salt Lake City, UT

Collections Listening Session
Roundtable, Room 110A
Are you interested in talking about collections? Would you like AASLH to offer more programming around collections? AASLH would like to hear from you! Come to this session and share your ideas for a possible Collections Affinity Community through AASLH.
Chair: Bethany L. Hawkins, AASLH, Nashville, TN

DEAI Core: A Call to Action for Next Practices
Idea Studio, Room 410C
Inspired by the call to inclusion conveyed by the conference theme, the AASLH Diversity & Inclusion, Field Services Alliance, and Small Museums Committees invite collaboration in challenging internal practices, beliefs, and systems that block DEAI progress. We will share realistic practices and possible actions to collectively continue working for representation, access, and equity.
Chair: Veronica Gallardo, Surrott House Museum, Natural and Historical Resources Division, Department of Parks and Recreation, Prince George’s County, Clinton, MD; Sean Blinn, Heritage Trail Association, Bridgewater, NJ; Sara Phalen, Warrenville Historical Society and Art Gallery and the West Chicago City Museum, Chicago, IL; Chieko Phillips, 4Culture, Seattle, WA

DIRTY POP: Intersecting Historical Musical Instruments and Pop Culture
Roundtable, Room: 430AB
This panel discussion will focus on the intersections between historical musical instruments and pop culture, utilizing specifically Lizzo’s James Madison crystal flute performance at her Washington D.C. concert. Historical musical instruments are often misconceived as collection objects that should not be played, but they can and should be.
I, Too, Am America

Drowned Towns: Resurfacing Histories of Inundated Communities

Roundtable, Room 420B
Recovering the histories of “drowned towns”—communities displaced or disappeared by the construction of large dams—requires engagement with stakeholders from a variety of backgrounds and perspectives. Out of such engagement emerge processes and products useful to the interpretation of histories of displacement and marginalization.

Chair: Bob H. Reinhardt, Boise State University, Boise, ID; Rachel Klade, Independent Historian and Graduate Research Assistant, Boise, ID; Melody Munger, North Santiam Historical Society, Mill City, OR; Tracy Schwartz, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Portland, OR

Public History in the Equality State: A Discussion of Identity and Representation

Roundtable, Room 400C
Complex questions of settler colonialism, racism, and xenophobia, erasure, and dominant/false narratives make it a daunting task to present diverse public history in ways that are authentic yet inviting and engaging. Panelists with experience presenting Black, Japanese American, and LGBTQIA2S+ stories invite attendees to engage with questions, examples, and ideas.

Chair: Brigida R. Blast, American Heritage Center, University of Wyoming, Laramie, WY; Aura Sunada Newlin, Heart Mountain Wyoming Foundation, Powell, WY; Leslie R. Waggener, American Heritage Center, University of Wyoming, Laramie, WY

Unheard: Voices from Japanese American Incarceration Camps

Roundtable, Room 400B
The silencing of Japanese American stories about racial prejudices, military violence, and living conditions at incarceration camps is still occurring at museums and historic sites. It is imperative to challenge longstanding narratives and historical interpretation. This roundtable will discuss the misinterpretation and the power of community activism.

Chair: Marian Carpenter, Conner Prairie Living History Museum, Fishers, IN; Kimiko Marr, Japanese American Memorial Pilgrimages, Aptos, CA; Emiko Omori, Poston Survivor and Independent Filmmaker, Berkeley, CA; Nancy Ukal, 500Objects.org, Berkeley, CA

Gender Discrimination and Sexual Harassment Toolkit Working Group
Roundtable, Room: 400A
In 2020, AASLH and the National Council on Public History published a study about gender discrimination and sexual harassment in the history field. Since that time, AASLH has held listening sessions and worked with volunteers to create a Gender Discrimination and Sexual Harassment Toolkit for history organizations. In this session, a group of AASLH members will come together to talk through the draft and how it can be made more useful for institutions of all sizes.

Chair: Bethany L. Hawkins, AASLH, Nashville, TN; Veronica Gallardo, Surratt House Museum, Natural and Historical Resources Division, Department of Parks and Recreation, Prince George’s County, Clinton, MD; Richard Josey, Collective Journeys, LLC, Newport News, VA; Page Harrington, Page Harrington and Company, Washington, DC; Andrea Malcomb, Historic Denver Inc.’s Molly Brown House Museum, Denver, CO; Raka Nandi, Museum of Science and History, Memphis, TN; Jennifer Van Haafken, Wisconsin Veterans Museum, Madison, WI; Lisa Worley, Edsel and Eleanor Ford House, Grosse Pointe Shores, MI

Advocacy in Collections Care
Nuts and Bolts, Room 410C
This session will explore routes for both external and internal advocacy with a focus on collections care, securing time and funding for preservation initiatives and conservation treatment, and discussing opportunities for incorporating information about preservation into all institutional advocacy efforts. Collaborative, cross-departmental opportunities that benefit the organization overall will be a focus.

Chair: Dyani Feige, Conservation Center for Art & Historic Artifacts, Philadelphia, PA

Confronting Difficult Histories: Approaches to Charged Topics

Idea Studio, Room 410B

Hear from a national touring exhibition program and city/county-led museums working to highlight underrepresented stories from the Midwest to the Southwest. Panelists will address how they create and program exhibitions examining stories untold, sharing real-world examples of building partnerships, countering pushback, winning stakeholders’ hearts and minds, and tackling difficult histories.

Chair: Catherina Mueller, Mid-America Arts Alliance, Kansas City, MO; Jody Crago, Chandler Museum, Chandler, AZ; Andrew R. Gustafson, Johnson County Museum, Overland Park, KS

Conquering the Fear of Finance: Skills to Build Your Confidence

Nuts and Bolts, Room 410A

How many of us feel less than thrilled about numbers? This session introduces basic principles of museum finance to those with little to no financial background. Engaging financial oversight with mission, you’ll get insights into how to cultivate confidence amongst museum professionals and trustees without formal training in finance.

Chair: Rebekah Beaulieu, Taft Museum of Art, Cincinnati, OH

2023 Filmapalooza

Room: 110C

Drop into this session to screen some AASLH award winning documentaries and short films created by and for history organizations. The films scheduled are listed below.

SHENANDOAH

Harbor History Museum, Washington

SHENANDOAH is the award-winning story of a 65-foot wooden fishing boat that was saved from demolition and innovatively restored by the team at the Harbor History Museum in Gig Harbor, WA. Now the centerpiece of the museum’s Maritime Gallery, Shenandoah is one boat with three lives: tender, seiner, and now, teacher. (26 minutes)

Unlocking the Past: A History of Prejudice and Racism in Sacramento

Film Series Center for Sacramento History, California

The Center for Sacramento History has released three films in this series, which focuses on systemic racism in Sacramento and its continued impact today, with three more in the works. “The goal with these short films is to tell stories from the region in a more complete and honest way, and to face and examine discrimination while acknowledging its long-term effects on our communities,” explained City Historian Marcia Eymann. The available films tell of the Sacramento city manager’s fight in 1922 to get the Ku Klux Klan out of government, Nathaniel Colley’s work to address housing discrimination in Sacramento and John Sutter’s impact on the California Indians of the Sacramento area. (39 minutes)

Minidoka: An American Concentration Camp

National Park Service, Idaho

During World War II, over 120,000 people of Japanese ancestry were forcibly removed from their homes and incarcerated without due process of law. Although little remains of the barbed-wire fences and tar-papered barracks, the Minidoka concentration camp once held over 13,000 Japanese Americans in the Idaho desert. Minidoka preserves their legacy and teaches the importance of civil liberties. (30 minutes)

We the People: Alabama’s Defining Documents

Alabama Department of Archives and History

In 2019, the Alabama Department of Archives and History (ADAH) produced two films to complement its exhibition We the People: Alabama’s Defining Documents. The exhibition was on view at the ADAH’s Museum of Alabama and the Huntsville Museum of Art as part of Alabama’s bicentennial commemoration. The films provide an overview of the historical significance of the state’s constitutions and offer a glimpse of the intricate conservation work required to prepare them for the exhibition. (7 minutes)

Museums, Monuments, Memory: Community-Engaged History and Technology

Experiential, Room 420A

The Japanese American National Museum highlights underrepresented narratives while placing the audience first, through both interactive community curation and the use of innovative technology. Attendees will interact with the latest virtual reality, augmented reality, and artificial intelligence technology-driven exhibition components at the museum.

Chair: Ann Burroughs, Japanese American National Museum, Los Angeles, CA; Clement Hanami, Japanese American National Museum, Los Angeles, CA; Travis Takenouchi, Japanese American National Museum, Los Angeles, CA

My First Election: Democracy and Elections for Children

Experiential, Room 400B

In 2022, the Greensboro History Museum opened the NC Democracy: Eleven Elections exhibition. This session looks at the challenges of teaching mechanisms of democracy in a fun and engaging way. Attendees are invited to participate in two of My First Election’s stations, then creatively make stations for their museum.

Chair: Catherine Johns-Longwill, Greensboro History Museum, Greensboro, NC; Sarah Anne Maske, Greensboro History Museum, Greensboro, NC

4:15 – 5:30 pm

Relevance and Relationships
Nuts and Bolts, Room 430AB
Elected officials contribute to American society through policy making. Policy supportive of the historical sector is essential in building an engaged, civil society. Speakers will explore how positive, sustainable relationships with policy makers result in shared understanding as to why government should play a direct role in preserving history.

Chair: Janet L. Gallimore, Idaho State Historical Society, Boise ID; Matthew Bundy, Idaho House of Representatives, Mountain Home, ID; Dawn DiPrince, History Colorado, Denver, CO; Susan Tissot, Lincoln County Historical Society, Newport, OR; Kent Whitworth, Minnesota Historical Society, St. Paul, MN

Renewable Energy: Historic Preservation and Environmental Justice
Roundtable, Room 110B
Renewable energy can help and hurt historic preservation. Using Minidoka National Historic Site as a case study, Friends of Minidoka, Preservation Idaho, and Sierra Club Idaho will discuss siting of renewable projects, historic preservation, equity, inclusion, and justice and efforts to protect historic sites impacted by a renewable energy project.

Chair: Robyn Achilles, Friends of Minidoka, Twin Falls, ID; Janet Matsuoka Keegan, Stop Lava Ridge Community Committee, Twin Falls, ID; Shauna Robinson, Preservation Idaho, Twin Falls, ID; Lisa Young, Sierra Club Idaho Chapter, Boise, ID

Stripping the Whitewash

Nuts and Bolts, Room 400C
Many historical societies and history museums hold archives and collections, but whose story do they represent? Hear an example of diversifying a collection and create a plan to be more inclusive at your own museum through community partnerships.

Chair: Erica McAvoy, Moffatt-Ladd House and Garden, Portsmouth, NH; Stacey Fraser, Scottish Rite Masonic Museum and Library, Lexington, MA; Sean Osborne, Association of Black Citizens of Lexington, Lexington, MA

A SPECIAL PROCLAMATION
FROM THE AASLH COUNCIL

At their June meeting, the AASLH Council voted to recognize the work of the late Mae Timbimboo Parry (May 15, 1919–March 20, 2007) in a special way during the 2023 AASLH Conference in Boise. Ms. Parry was a storyteller for the Northwestern Band of the Shoshone Nation of Utah, activist, and member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

WHEREAS, Mae Timbimboo Parry (1919–2007) was a tribal historian, matriarch, artisan, and storyteller in the Northwestern Band of the Shoshone Nation whose work to preserve and share Shoshone history challenged prevailing myths about the 1863 “Battle of Bear River” and;

WHEREAS, Parry’s work corrected the historical record on the largest massacre of Native Americans by federal troops in U.S. history, known to the Shoshone as Boa Ogoi and;

WHEREAS, Parry’s powerful truth-telling changed the history of the Bear River Massacre and also has helped change the practice of history and;

WHEREAS, as a bearer of cultural memory, she faced difficulty in persuading historical gatekeepers to accept and recognize non-traditional history work and, in spite of this, corrected harmful myths and demonstrated the value of orally passed history as a legitimate and important mechanism for sharing history and historical memory;

WHEREAS, the American Association for State and Local History Council as a professional history organization can provide a meaningful platform of recognition posthumously to public historians whose work has long lasting impact on the region where our membership meets;

THEREFORE, be it resolved that the American Association for State and Local History recognizes the work and efforts of Shoshone tribal historian Mae Timbimboo Parry, in preserving the memory and history of Boa Ogoi with this proclamation.

Experience an invigorating morning at JUMP, or Jack’s Urban Meeting Place (jumpboise.org). Inspired by the late Jack Simplot, American entrepreneur, businessman, and founder of the Boise-based J.R. Simplot agricultural company, JUMP is a nonprofit creative center and community space that promotes creativity, innovation, and collaboration. It’s a place to discover new possibilities and explore your potential. Executive Director Maggie Soderberg and Community Engagement Director Kathy O’Neill will share JUMP’s entrepreneurial journey and role as an idea incubator. Following their opening comments, we will segue into discussing the America250 anniversary. Joining us will be Susie Wilkening, whose ongoing research with museumgoers makes clear that today, individual political values are the strongest predictor of how people respond to the content that museums share. Wilkening will lead a discussion about the political landscape and help us navigate our work in a time that can seem full of division. This insight is essential as we prepare for the 250th milestone and explore how history can advance unity and civic engagement.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

Approaches to the 250th: Early Lessons from Across the Country
Roundtable, Room: 410A
The 250th anniversary, coming up in 2026, is a rare opportunity to make progress towards justice through inclusive history and to uplift the work of history institutions across the country. With three years to go, planning for the anniversary is underway nationwide. Attend this session to draw inspiration from commemorative activities from varied states that will help make the most of the transformative potential of 2026.

Chair: Dawn DiPrince, History Colorado, Denver, CO; Jay Baersten, Washington State Historical Society, Tacoma, WA; Chris Hurtubise, America250-Ohio Commission, Columbus, OH; LeRae Umfleet, North Carolina Department of Natural and Cultural Resources, Raleigh, NC

Best Practices for Museums with Native American Collections
Roundtable, Room: 400C
Explore current best practices for working with Native people and collections. Museum and cultural organization leaders will present an overview of each best practice document. A moderated group discussion will follow and will explore the goals, approaches, and shortcomings of the best practices documents and, most importantly, their applicability to history organizations.

Chair: Stacey Halfmoon, Shawnee Tribe, Norman, OK; Aja Bain, AASLH, Nashville, TN; Deanna Dart, Live Oak Consulting, Eugene, OR; Laura Elliff Cruz, School for Advanced Research, Indian Arts Research Center, Santa Fe, NM
Exploring the Trailblazing Women of Idaho
Roundtable, Room: 430AB
The Idaho State Museum with support from the AASLH Women’s History Affinity Community will explore the process the museum used for developing, installing, and disseminating the unique stories of the women featured in their AASLH Award of Excellence winning exhibit, Trailblazing Women of Idaho.
Chair: Kimberly Robinson, National Park Service, Harpers Ferry, WV; Chelsee Boehm, Grace Hudson Museum and Sun House, Ukiah, CA; Nicole Inghiltarra, Idaho State Museum, Boise, ID

Local History: Problems and Solutions
Roundtable, Room: 420B
America is undergoing a reckoning about our collective past, as efforts such as The 1619 Project and the removal of Confederate monuments reshape our historical landscape. The problematic parts of local history are easy to find, but how to address them? The session looks at three such efforts. Presenters will consider how and why these memorials’ designs and interpretive strategies differ from earlier generations of memorials in and around downtown Boise, then evaluate the utility of these approaches for conveying historical and cultural meaning.
Chair: Larry Cebula, PhD, Eastern Washington University, Cheney, WA; Allison Campbell, Washington State Historical Society, Tacoma, WA; Leslie Madsen, PhD, Boise State University, Boise, ID

Minidoka: An American Concentration Camp
Experiential, Room: 400A
“I was born in an American concentration camp.” Join Minidoka survivor, Karen Hirai Olen, photojournalist Teresa Tamura, and Minidoka National Historic Site staff for a screening of the AASLH award winning film, Minidoka: An American Concentration Camp, and a discussion on the legacy of the WWII incarceration of Japanese Americans.
Chair: Emily Teraoka, Minidoka National Historic Site, Jerome, ID; Karen Hirai Olen, Twin Falls, ID; Teresa Tamura, Author and Photojournalist, Walla Walla, WA

Pride is for Everyone: LGBTQ+ Identities and America
RoundtableRoom: 410C
LGBTQ+ individuals are an important part of America’s history and present, and museums have an obligation to represent LGBTQ+ people and their experiences. This session will discuss institutional strategies for adopting an LGBTQ+ inclusive definition of “the people” and provide guidance on navigating the complications of this approach.
Chair: Raka Nandi, Museum of Science and History, Memphis, TN; Matthew Sackel, Illinois Holocaust Museum and Education Center; Skokie, IL; Dorothy Svedik, Museum of Science and History, Memphis, TN

Teaching Civics in the Museum: Lessons Learned
Experiential, Room: 400B
Consider how museums can engage deeply in civics education through an exploration of the Academy for American Democracy, an ambitious residency-style middle school program at the New-York Historical Society. This interactive session will include model activities, best practices, and suggestions for creating dynamic civics/history programming in your own museum.
Co-Chairs: Leah Charles-Edouard, New-York Historical Society, New York, NY; Jenni Rein, New-York Historical Society, New York, NY

There’s No Development Director: Fundraising at Small Museums
Lightning Round, Room: 410B
Small, volunteer-run, and rural museums get creative when it comes to raising money by scaling fundraising strategies to fit their circumstances. Join a panel of people who fundraise at small museums for an interactive conversation. We’ll share what has and hasn’t worked for us with plenty of audience input.
Chair: Lynne Calamia, Roebling Museum, Roebling, NJ; Sarah Phalen, West Chicago Museum and Wallenive Historical Museum, West Chicago, IL; Jamie Simek, Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians and Western Art, Indianapolis, IN

10:45 am – 12 pm

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

Beyond “The Patriot”: Inspiring Heritage Tourism in South Carolina
Roundtable, Room: 410A

This roundtable of preservation, digital history, and tourism professionals will function to explore the methods implemented to inspire heritage tourism at South Carolina’s Revolutionary War sites on The Liberty Trail. Attendees can expect to gain insight on collaborative processes to increase visitation and embrace under-told themes in American history.

Chair: Catherine Noyes, American Battlefield Trust, Washington, DC; Douglas W. Bostick, South Carolina Battleground Preservation Trust, Charleston, SC

Exploring Visions of America
Experiential, Room: 110C

Join IMLS in a special screening of Visions of America, a digital-first series of videos and virtual conversations produced in collaboration with PBS Books that explores our post-pandemic nation with a renewed interest in the places, people, and stories that have contributed to the America. Participants will be introduced to the videos, as well as resources and curricula for use in programming to support the Semiquincentennial.

Chair: Laura Huerta Migus, Institute of Museum and Library Services, Washington, DC

Leadership in History Awards: Sharing Award-Winning Ideas

Lightning Round, Room: 410C
Learn more about AASLH’s Leadership in History Awards program during this lightning session featuring some of the most innovative and inspirational work by organizations large and small. Five presentations representing projects from 2023 award winners highlight strategies for success and discuss the challenges faced in implementing these award-winning ideas.

Chair: Christy Crisp, Georgia Historical Society, Savannah, GA

Legacies of the Bicentennial At Parks: Reframing Narratives

Roundtable, Room: 400A
Many park agencies operate historic sites that were originally preserved as part of the initial wave of patriotic preservationism in the wake of the Bicentennial of 1976—preserving sites honoring white men. This session explores attempts to reframe narratives and preservation efforts at parks to reflect a more diverse history.

Chair: Antone Pierucci, Riverside County Regional Park and Open-Space District, Jurupa Valley, CA; Kevin Cabrera, Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, Riverdale, MD; Maya Davis, Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, Riverdale, MD

Museum Makeover: A DIY Approach to Fresh Interpretation

Experiential, Room: 400C
Museum Makeover is a pilot program in Connecticut pairing small museums with a team of Traveling Curators to refresh exhibits. Using real-world projects, participants in this session will take on the role of Traveling Curator on a Museum Makeover and see how their plan compares with what actually happened.

Chair: Amrys Williams, Connecticut League of History Organizations, New Britain, CT; Stephen Bartkus, Independent Curator, Washington, CT; Barbara Bradbury-Pape, Independent Museum Consultant, Museum Makeover, Bradbury, CT; Kathy Craughwell-Varda, Conservation ConneCTion, Brookfield, CT; Beth Payne, The Dudley Farm Museum, Guilford, CT

Transgender through History

Idea Studio, Room: 400B
Is being transgender a modern concept or part of gender and cultural identity throughout human history? Join museum professionals and co-hosts of the Transgenda podcast Ana and Cam as they present stories of trans and nonbinary individuals through history and discuss museum interpretation through the lens of gender identity.

Chair: Cameron Kruger, Duluth Children’s Museum and the Transgenda Podcast, Duluth, MN; Aleana Kruger, the Transgenda Podcast, Duluth, MN

Truth and Transformation: How Truth Telling Can Inspire Advocacy

Nuts and Bolts, Room: 430AB
In this session, presenters will examine historical instances of racial terror in America and how communities have responded and mobilized to reclaim the narrative. This session will introduce a framework for how institutions can build community power and resiliency through telling the truth about history.

Chair: Darrin “DJ” Sims, The National Center for Civil and Human Rights, Atlanta, GA

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

Building Resilience, Taking Care

Conversation/Provocation, Room: 410C
Understanding trauma and resilience is core to museums’ work in caring for our communities. This session will be a facilitated conversation about how museums can address trauma and grow resilience at the individual, organizational, communal, and inter-generational levels.

Chair: Stacey Garcia, International Coalition of Sites of Conscience, New York, NY

Elevators, Bathrooms, and Dogs, Oh My! Collections Accessibility

Idea Studio, Room: 410B
Where do museum professionals with disabilities fit in? From service dogs to elevators, the Museum of the Rockies collections department has taken up the challenge in addressing workplace accessibility and equitable opportunities. Join us in exploring fun and creative solutions that you can implement at your site, regardless of budget.

Chair: Melissa Dawn, Museum of the Rockies, Bozeman, MT; Kristen Newman, Accessibility Consultant, Bozeman, MT; Emily Skyberg, Museum of the Rockies, Bozeman, MT

Getting Started with Planned Giving

Nuts and Bolts, Room: 410A
Experts and experienced peers in planned giving will discuss why they have committed to planned giving/deferred gifts as part of their philanthropic strategy, how planned gifts create more opportunities for larger donations, and how such gifts can engage prospects who cannot give cash now.

Chair: Erin Carlson Mast, Lincoln Presidential Foundation, Chicago/Springfield, IL; Kris Kamann, Idaho Community Foundation, Boise, ID; Baty Landis, Longue Vue House and Gardens, New Orleans, LA; Patty Miller, Basque Museum and Cultural Center, Boise, ID; Debbie Sager, Wassmuth Center for Human Rights, Boise, ID

Building a Statewide Black Heritage Trail
Nuts and Bolts, Room: 410A
The process of building and maintaining a statewide Black Heritage Trail is something that takes a lot of effort on many fronts. This session will describe how to develop the solid community networks that make these efforts a success and build lasting relationships.
Chair: JerriAnne Boggis, Black Heritage Trail of New Hampshire, Portsmouth, NH; Barbara McLean Ward, Black Heritage Trail of New Hampshire, Portsmouth, NH

The Enemy Alien Files of WWII: Reckoning and Recovering our Shared Pasts
Roundtable, Room: 410C
Park interpreters, and educators representing a cross-section of Japanese, Latin American, German, and Italian American communities discuss their shared histories in a traveling interactive exhibition Enemy Alien Files. Panelists from these respective communities will discuss resolving divergent narratives, reckoning race, and how to heal from inter-generational trauma.
Chair: Rosalyn Tonai, National Japanese American Historical Society, San Francisco, CA; Grace Morizawa, EdD, Bay Area Writing Project, Berkeley, CA; Lynn Fonta, Golden Gate National Recreation Area, National Park Service, San Francisco CA; Sigrid Toye, German American Internment Coalition, Summerland, CA; Grace Shimizu, Japanese Peruvian Oral History Project, Oakland, CA

History Leadership Institute: A Life-Changing Experience
Roundtable, Room: 440
Is History Leadership Institute right for you? Join us for a lively conversation with several former HLI participants about the long-term effects of this sixty-four-year-old program on the trajectory of their careers. Get a retrospective of this well-received training program for mid-career museum professionals and learn how the new Director of HLI, Andrea Jones, will continue to push the program further in exciting ways.
Chair: Andrea Jones, Peak Experience Lab, Brentwood, MD

It Takes A Village: Making the Erma Hayman House
Roundtable, Room: 430B
This session presents a model for structuring inclusive community engagement to inform historic projects. Collaboration with community partners was vital for the telling of lesser-known and underrepresented stories in the creation of the City of Boise's newest cultural site. Understand the value of this type of collaboration and possible approaches and tools for fostering it, and why it is essential to include a multitude of voices as you reconsider longstanding historical narratives.
Chair: Kristen Hill, Boise City Department of Arts and History, Boise, ID; Tenisha Eastman-Dodson, Boise City Department of Arts and History, Boise, ID; Kristen Furlong, Boise State University and Erma Hayman House Advisory Task Force, Boise, ID; William White, III, Anthropology Department, University of California Berkeley, Hercules, CA

Monuments in a Changing Landscape: Past, Present, and Possible Futures
Roundtable, Room: 410B
In this session, the Washington State Historical Society will discuss the process they've developed for auditing and addressing racist monuments and the nonprofit Confluence will share their model for creating new monuments along the Columbia River that strive to elevate Indigenous voices.

Surveying the Big Picture: DEAI Amongst Museum Professionals
Roundtable, Room: 110B
Who works in museums? What challenges have they faced? Explore these questions and more through a DEAI-based survey that was conducted with museum professionals in Texas. Come away with practical takeaways for conducting a similar survey in your own area or ideas you can explore further in your institution.
Chair: Rachael A. Nadeau Johnson, Dr Pepper Museum, Waco, TX

This One’s for the Girls: Women’s Stories at Historic Sites and Museums
Nuts and Bolts, Room: 430A
"Assume women were crucial and you’ll find them, even in the most unlikely places," is a guiding principle of "A Toolkit of Women’s History: Strengthening the Interpretation of Women at Historic Sites and Museums." Attend and learn to use the toolkit and expand your historic site’s stories of women.
Chair: Brandi Burns, Yellowstone Historic Center, West Yellowstone, MT; Andrea Malcolm, Historic Denver Inc.'s Molly Brown House Museum, Denver, CO

The U.S. Semiquincentennial and the Power of Imagery
Roundtable, Room: 210C
The approaching U.S. 250th anniversary requires thoughtful consideration of ways to use common Revolutionary era images and symbols, which often come with complex histories and inspire different associations for different people. How can history practitioners use these images in interpreting the Revolution and 250th for diverse audiences? This panel will discuss these questions about inclusive interpretation and the power of imagery.
Chair: Madeleine Rosenberg, AASLH, Nashville, TN; Aimee E. Newell, PhD, Museum of the American Revolution, Philadelphia, PA; Stephen Seats, Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, Williamsburg, VA; Noelle Lorraine Williams, New Jersey Historical Commission, Trenton, NJ

Special Thanks from the Host Committee:

In addition to the Host Committee members listed above, we thank the staff and volunteers from the Idaho State Historical Society and partner organizations, and Boise community members for their support and assistance with this conference. This could not have been accomplished alone! We especially recognize the Egyptian Theatre and Jump! for hosting sessions and events.
Thank you to our individual members who choose to support us at the Patron, Sustaining, and Supporting Levels.

Recognizing the Best in State and Local History

The American Association for State and Local History offers its Leadership in History Awards to establish and encourage standards of excellence in the collection, preservation, and interpretation of state and local history in the United States. By publicly recognizing excellent achievements, the association strives to inspire others to give care, thought, and effort to their own projects.

THERE ARE FOUR TYPES OF AWARDS:

THE AWARD OF EXCELLENCE

Presented for excellence in history programs, projects, and people when compared with similar activities nationwide.

THE HIP AWARD

The History in Progress (HIP) award is given to projects that are highly inspirational; exhibit exceptional scholarship; or are exceedingly entrepreneurial in terms of funding, partnerships and/or collaborations, creative problem solving, or unusual project design and inclusiveness. This award is given at the discretion of the awards committee to five percent or less of the total number of winners of the Award of Excellence.

THE ALBERT B. COREY AWARD

Named in honor of a founder and former president of AASLH, it recognizes primarily volunteer-operated history organizations that best display the qualities of vigor, scholarship, and imagination in their work. The Leadership in History Awards committee presents one Corey Award a year at their discretion. This special honor also includes a $500 award for the organization.

THE AWARD OF DISTINCTION

This award is bestowed by the AASLH Council infrequently and only in recognition of long and very distinguished service. Recipients are noted for their contributions to the field of state and local history and are recognized nationally as leaders in the profession. The individual must have demonstrated the highest standards of performance and professional ethics.
Award of Distinction

Cinnamon Catlin-Legutko

Cinnamon Catlin-Legutko passed away in January 2023, but her impact on the history field will be long-lasting. She used her power to change lives, inspire movements, and challenge the status quo for the better. She worked in museums and with professional associations, including AASLH, for more than twenty years. Since 2001, she has led institutional change as the director of museums such as the Abbe Museum and Illinois State Museum. She also was part of the vanguard of systemic change across the field: raising funds and creating tools for small museums and historic sites; working tirelessly on decolonization efforts; and sharing knowledge and experience through board service, talks in national settings, and transformative publications she authored or edited.

Janet L. Gallimore

Janet Gallimore is an inspirational leader for the Idaho State Historical Society, where she directs a dynamic state agency comprised of the Idaho State Museum, Idaho State Archives and State Records Center, State Historic Preservation Office, and Historic Sites program. She championed the History Relevance initiative, advancing history as essential and raising the profile of history in national dialogue. Across her career, her work demonstrates a commitment to inclusive history, reflected currently and distinctly in the visitor experience and co-curated exhibitions at the Idaho State Museum. Her role as a champion of history at the county, state, and national levels has impacted countless public history professionals around the country.
